

Why Rabbit?

DID YOU KNOW? Rabbit is environmentally friendly:

- The process for raising beef places a burden on grain and water supplies. The environmental impact from raising rabbits is low. The period from conception to harvesting maturity is only three months, and the amount of food they eat is minimal when compared to other animals.
- Rabbits are one of the most productive domestic livestock animal there is. Rabbits can produce 6 pounds of meat on the same feed and water as the cow will produce 1 pound of meat on the same feed and water.

DID YOU KNOW? Rabbit is healthy:

- Rabbit has more Protein than beef, pork, or lamb!
- Rabbit has virtually no saturated fat!
- Rabbit is great for allergies!
- Compared to Pork, Beef, Chicken, Lamb, & Turkey Rabbit has –
 - the LOWEST calories per pound!
 - the LOWEST cholesterol per 500g! – Heart Friendly
 - the LOWEST fat percentage!
- The office of home economics, state relations of the US Department of Agriculture has made extensive tests and have stated that domestic rabbit meat is the most nutritious meat known to man.
- Rabbit meat contains selenium, a mineral your body uses to make antioxidants; each 3-oz. portion of meat contains 46.8 percent of the recommended daily value of selenium. MedlinePlus reports that some physicians may recommend more selenium into your diet to combat hardening of the arteries, as well as cancers such as stomach, lung, prostate and skin cancer.

DID YOU KNOW? Rabbit is great for skin and coat:

- One of the most common problems facing pet owners is dog allergens such as itchy skin. If you have a grooming center or sell allergy friendly products – you need to be telling your customers about Rabbit.
- Rabbit has a minimum number of allergens.

DID YOU KNOW? Hare of the Dog 100% Rabbit Treats don't use preservatives:

- Mother Nature doesn't use preservatives, so neither do we! Just 100% Rabbit!

So, 100% Hare of the Dog Treats are:

- Great for the Environment
- Extremely Healthy for your dog
- A great treat for Allergy prone dogs with skin and coat problems!
- 100% natural

Hare of the Dog –What Mother Nature Intended!

MADE IN USA
FROM AMERICAN FARMS

